Program Overview

The Indiana State Library will offer all public, school media, academic, and special libraries in Indiana the opportunity to receive federal funds for the purpose of developing innovative library technology projects with the potential for state-wide impact. With assistance from these grant funds, libraries should incorporate innovative methods and emerging technologies into their current library services to address the ever-changing needs of their patrons. Libraries should use these funds to test the effectiveness of new program and service implementation and to discern their applicability and potential as a model for enhancing library technology and service.

Desired Outcomes
